All in the Family

Marianne Rosenberg is following in the family footsteps. The granddaughter of Paul Rosenberg—dealer to Picasso, Braque, Matisse, Léger, and other luminaries—recently opened Rosenberg & Co. at 19 East 66th street on New York's Upper East Side. Her father, Alexandre, and great-uncle Léonce Rosenberg were also dealers. The former lawyer admits that opening her own space has always been an aim. "Those galleries were indeed the inspiration for the opening of Rosenberg & Co.," she notes. "They showed a wide range of high-caliber artworks and championed great contemporary artists." So the bar is set high. The new space will build on this rich history, dealing in Impressionist and modern sculptures, paintings, and works on paper while also establishing a stable of contemporary artists.
